

Application for the Rural Business Energy Efficiency Improvement Loan Fund

Program Description

The Rural Business Energy Efficiency Improvement Loan Fund has been established by MARBIDCO to help agricultural operations and other resource-based businesses to install equipment or make operational improvements that reduce the consumption of energy. Dairy and poultry operations typically use large amounts of electricity and/or propane in their operations, as do other food and fiber processing enterprises. The goal of this program is to help rural businesses to reduce energy consumption while at the same time to increase profitability. This program facilitates the purchase of equipment or technology related to lowering business-related energy consumption by providing below market rate financing assistance. A copy of an energy audit or an ag energy management plan report (or an energy savings confirmation letter) provided by a qualified third-party energy auditor is required to be submitted with the application, as well as a simple commercial lender referral.

Under this program, agricultural and rural businesses may apply for a loan from MARBIDCO to help finance the cost of purchasing and installing equipment or technology related to lowering business-related energy consumption. Loan amounts can range from $5,000 to $30,000, with repayment terms tied the anticipated energy savings of the project. Loan amounts cannot exceed the total project cost, less any grant funding that is provided for the project by the State or Federal Governments, EnSave or MARBIDCO. MARBIDCO will make and service these loans on a funds-available basis.

This program potentially offers a grant subsidy to borrowers to help reduce the debt service expense. Borrowers who are in good standing on making their payments will receive a grant of up to 10% of the loan amount (not to exceed $1,000) of the cost of purchasing and installing equipment or technology related to lowering business-related energy consumption.
